

NO TARIFF REFORM
DURING THE TERMDEMOCRATS VOTE TO CORRECT
NO ABUSES.

Ways and Means Committee Decide To Report No Bills Increasing Any Tariff Schedule—Now the Income Tax Senators Hill and Quay Are To Fight It.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—No important change in the tariff is possible until the republicans get in power. The ways and means committee this morning decided to report no bill for an increase of any tariff schedule. The decision was so worded as to indicate a disposition to smother any bill offered by the republicans. Today the item in the urgent deficiency bill providing an appropriation to carry out the income tax law will be brought up for discussion. Senator Hill offered yesterday an amendment which is intended to protect the rights of the New York bankers or any others who may wish to test the constitutionality of the law. This is taken as an indication that the New York senator has about decided to give up active opposition to the appropriation, and that he and his New York allies will rely on their case in court. Senator Quay of Pennsylvania, however, is proceeding on different lines and is as determined as ever in his opposition to the measure. He has three ideas on the subject. One of these is simply to repeal the income tax. Another is to strike out the appropriation and insert in its place a new woolen schedule of the tariff law. Still another scheme, which is in the shape of a formal amendment before the senate, is to strike out the appropriation entirely and to insert the McKinley bill verbatim. The senator is expected to filibuster if he can gain his point in no other way. He is now preparing a lengthy speech.

QUAY'S FIGHT ON INCOME TAX.

The Pennsylvania Prepared to Make a Determined Resistance.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Mr. Ransom yesterday resigned his position as president pro tem. of the senate, and on motion of Mr. Gorman a resolution was adopted electing Senator Harris to the position.

Mr. Cockrell (dem., Mo.) moved to proceed to consideration of the urgent deficiency bill, which contains an appropriation to carry the income law into effect, and Mr. Quay (rep., Pa.) moved to postpone the consideration of the bill until next week, but the presiding officer stated that that was not in order. A yeas and nays vote was then taken on Mr. Cockrell's motion and it was agreed to—43 to 2. Messrs. Cameron and Hill voting in the negative. The reading of the bill was then proceeded with.

Mr. Blanchard (dem., La.) asked for a yeas and nays vote on the amendment by the committee regarding the recoinage of silver coins. Mr. Blanchard saying the paragraph as passed by the house permitted the coining of the uncurrent silver dollars, whereas the amendment of the senate committee prevented their recoinage. The vote resulted—yeas, 40; nays, 3; the negative vote including Messrs. Blanchard, Kyle and Peffer.

The appropriation of $25,000 for the enforcement of the Chinese exclusion act caused some discussion and was finally agreed to.

The remaining committee amendments were agreed to without division. Mr. Hill (dem., N. Y.) offered an amendment that nothing shall preclude any court of the United States having jurisdiction of the parties from considering and determining as to the constitutionality of the income tax law, whenever by any proceeding which shall have been commenced or be pending in such courts such question shall be presented.

Mr. Quay briefly advocated the amendment.

Mr. Hill asserted that there was a well founded judgment on the part of the best legal talent that the law is unconstitutional, wholly or partly, and the best lawyers had advised their clients that the law was to be resisted.

Mr. Quay gave notice of the three following amendments which he intended to offer to the urgency deficiency bill—viz.: To insert a provision repealing the income tax law, to insert the entire McKinley tariff act, and to insert the wool tax.

The urgency deficiency bill was then laid aside and the Nicaragua canal bill was taken up. Mr. Caffery (dem., La.) declared that while favoring the construction he was opposed to the means proposed in the bill for effecting this purpose. He doubted the constitutionality of the measure, and asserted the United States had no authority to delegate the power to regulate commerce to the maritime canal commission. Without completing his remarks Mr. Caffery yielded to a motion to proceed with executive business, and at 5 o'clock the senate went into executive session and at 5:25 adjourned.

NEW CURRENCY BILL.

Another Measure to Be Introduced in the House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Notwithstanding the reverse suffered by the Carlisle currency bill in the house yesterday there is to be no abandonment of the effort to secure currency legislation. It is said by a gentleman conversant with the facts that a new measure having executive approval will be introduced in the house in about two weeks. This length of time will be allowed to elapse, in order that the confusion and excitement attending the struggle over the first bill may be allayed and a new start made under more favorable conditions. It is probable that Mr. Springer will not direct the course of the new measure, as the desire will be to urge it along new lines and with new leaders, with a view to separating it as far as possible from any loss of position attaching to the old measure.

The lines on which the new measure will be framed are not definitely known. To some extent it will follow the old bill, with such changes as the experience of the recent debate shows to be desirable. It is pointed out that the vote of 124 to 129 is an adverse majority of only five, so that a change of three votes would show a majority supporting the bill.

Uneventful Day in the House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—In the house yesterday morning, on motion of Mr. Turner of Georgia, Saturday, Feb. 12, was set aside for paying tribute to the memory of the late Senator Colquitt of Georgia.

On motion of Mr. Curtis of New York a bill was passed to define the crimes of murder in the first and second degrees and manslaughter and rape, mutiny and desertion, and providing punishment therefor, and to abolish the death penalties of other crimes.

The senate bill repealing the law providing for bonds for registry of vessels was passed; also the senate bill providing an American register for the steamer Empress. A bill to repeal the shipping act of Aug. 1, 1890, precipitated opposition, and under agreement it was decided to postpone its consideration until to-day. A bill to provide for appendices to the American measurement of vessels was passed.

The house then, in committee of the whole, took up the District of Columbia appropriation bill, carrying $3,391,107, or $275,031 less than the appropriation for the current year. The bill was passed without substantial amendment. The pension bills (ten in number) favorably acted upon at last Friday night's session were taken up and passed and the house adjourned.

Finance Committee Meets and Talks.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The meeting of the senate committee on finance was held yesterday in accordance with the call issued Wednesday, but was entirely devoid of results, unless a vague promise that there should be a bill for consideration by to-morrow may be accepted as such. Many senators have plans which will be introduced at an early date. Mr. Springer, who was in charge of the Carlisle currency bill in the house, spent some time yesterday morning with President Cleveland and Mr. Carlisle, meeting them separately. When Mr. Springer reached the house later he would not go into the details of the private conversations with the President and the secretary further than to say there would be no abatement in the effort to secure currency legislation. "But," added Mr. Springer, "no concession will go to the extent of silver coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1."

TAYLOR'S DEFALCATION.

Shortage Turns Out Worse as the Facts Become Known.

PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 11.—The defalcation of State Treasurer Taylor grows in seriousness as the facts become known. When the new treasurer, Mr. Phillips, footed up the books he found there should have been in Taylor's hands when his term expired $370,000. All that could be found was $15,000 in the banks of Pierre, where most of the current balance is kept and $1,500 in the Redfield bank, which failed Wednesday and which usually kept on hand nearly $25,000. This leaves a shortage of $353,500. There may be some other amounts deposited in various banks, but there is no record of them. It is understood Taylor's bond will be contested in the attorney-general's suit. It is thought Taylor is in hiding in the east. The state auditor feels positive that South Dakota must default on the bond interest due in June.

MAN AND WIFE FIGHT.

Mr. and Mrs. Hinshaw's Desperate Battle with Burglars.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 11.—A most daring robbery and what may turn out to be a cold blooded double murder took place at the little village of Belleville, in Hendricks county, twenty miles west of here, at an early hour yesterday morning. The victims are Rev. W. E. Hinshaw and his young wife. They both made a desperate resistance to the robbers and Mr. Hinshaw was shot in the breast, near the heart, and through the shoulder, and has seventeen cuts and stabs, while his wife was shot through the head, but still lives, though unconscious. A thorough search is being made for the robbers, and they will surely be lynched if caught. They secured about $150.

Starving Persons Eat Raw Flour.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 11.—Over 30,000 people are on the verge of starvation and there is imperative need for immediate relief. A miner yesterday stole a sack of flour and ran home with it, and when an officer went to the house to arrest him he found the wife and children eating the raw flour, not having tasted bread for two days. This is only one of 10,000 cases where people are actually starving in Athens,

JAPS GAIN A POINT
IN ANOTHER FIGHTINVADING FORCES VICTORIOUS AT KAI-PING.

Cold Weather Drives the Imperial Court of Germany From Potsdam Back to Berlin, the Emperor Traveling by Sledge—King of Corea Reported Dead.

TOKIO, Jan. 11.—The Japanese defeated the Chinese at Kai Ping yesterday. The loss was large on each side. A news agency reports that the king of Corea has been assassinated, but advices from Yokohama are to the effect that the king has been prostrated by an epileptic fit.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—There is no information in possession of the Chinese, Japanese or Korean legations here respecting either the reported sickness or the assassination of the king of Corea as announced in dispatches from Japan to-day. The Korean legation officials have been without any telegraphic communication with their country for six months and receive only occasional advices. The report of the death of the king is not believed.

DIE IN A SNOW STORM.

Terrible Suffering in All Parts of Europe—Wolves on a Rampage.

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—Bitter weather has forced the removal of the German court from Potsdam here. The emperor traveled by sledge.

ROME, Jan. 11.—A snow storm, accompanied by a heavy wind, destroyed four houses at Celezza, in the province of Foggia. Sixteen persons were buried in the ruins of the houses. Eight of them were dead when extricated. At Pistoja, province of Florence, a woman was frozen to death. Snow storms at Stressa, on Lake Maggiore, Ravenna and elsewhere have caused great damage.

MADRID, Jan. 11.—The severity of the weather is unprecedented. In Navarre wolves have entered the town. At Pyrenees peasants have perished in the snow.

VIENNA, Jan. 11.—A terrific snow storm has swept over Vienna, leaving the city almost isolated. The supplies of vegetables, meat, and milk have almost failed. There are seven feet of snow in the suburbs.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The weather in England is intensely cold. On the continent rivers and lakes are frozen and many deaths are reported in consequence of the snow storms which seem to have prevailed in many parts.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—In all parts of France intense cold prevails. At Avignon it was so cold that the theaters were obliged to close. The Riviera resorts are also suffering from the cold, and trains to and from the Riviera have been delayed for many hours.

EDINBURGH, Jan. 11.—The cold weather now prevailing in Scotland is the most severe experienced for many years, 32 degrees of frost having been registered. Dense, black fog prevails over the Clyde, and steamers are unable to proceed.

GLASGOW, Jan. 11.—A dense fog overhangs the River Clyde. Five steamers which left Greenock yesterday for Glasgow have not been reported, and it is believed they have anchored in the river, waiting for the fog to lift.

LATE NEWS FROM THE BIG WAR.

Japanese Soldiers Said to Be Snowed Under—Fighting Near Peking.

YOKOHAMA, Jan. 11.—Native capitalists decline to float the proposed Korean loan.

It is rumored here that 1,000 men belonging to the first army of Japan operating in China have been invalidated by the cold weather. Gen. Nodzu telegraphs from Shungan, under date of Jan. 8, that the enemy facing the Third division of the Japanese army in the west has retreated on Kokan. The advance guard of the enemy near Lajo Yang has advanced to Kansenho with two pieces of artillery. The rest of the Chinese force is quartered a few miles northeast of Hai Ching.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—A dispatch from Shanghai says severe fighting has taken place near Jehol, Mongolia, 120 miles northeast of Peking. Hundreds of wounded Chinese are reported to be arriving at Tien Tsin daily.

New Steamship Lines.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The Standard's Liverpool correspondent says the Cunard and White Star Steamship companies have decided to establish new lines between Genoa and New York to compete with the German lines.

W. E. Chandler to Succeed Himself.

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 11.—William E. Chandler was nominated last night in a republican caucus of the legislature to succeed himself as United States senator for the term of six years. He received 224 votes to 56 for Henry W. Blair.

Lee Mantle Is to Go to the Senate.

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 11.—Lee Mantle of Butte will be one of the United States senators from Montana in the first ballot that was taken last night.

DURING the year 1894 it cost Sauk county $5000 to arrest, convict and feed tramps. The taxpayers are weary.

HAVOC IS WROUGHT
BY FLOOD AND FIRE

RISING WATER COSTS PARKERSBURG $125,000.

Families Being Driven Out of the Low Country by Hundreds—Big Furniture Stores Destroyed in New York This Morning—Flames in Toronto Cost $700,000.

PARKERSBURG, Va., Jan. 11.—The situation grows more and more alarming. Families are being driven out by the hundreds. The loss is already two hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Jordon & Monavily's furniture stores on Park Row were gutted by fire this morning. The loss was fifty thousand dollars.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 11.—This city was visited by another fire last night. The buildings damaged were more numerous though not so extensive as those of Sunday's fire, and the total loss, so far as can be ascertained from the imperfect investigation that could be made last night, will be nearly $700,000, the same as that estimated for Sunday's fire. The second disaster was not attended by any loss of life, though several firemen were seriously injured and one woman received bad injuries in trying to escape from the building in which the fire started. In the afternoon a wall on the burned Globe building collapsed. Eli Bowber was carried down with the brick and fell sixty feet in the cellar. It is feared he will die of internal injuries.

WHAT WAS SAID BY ALTGELD.

Illinois' Executive Delivers a Hot Message—Scores the President.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 11.—Gov. Altgeld has sent to the legislature his mammoth message. The document contains about 22,000 words and covers an exceptionally wide range of argument. After urging efficiency and economy in the public institutions of the state his excellency arrives at the subject of prisons, expresses satisfaction with the way they are conducted in Illinois and then takes up the question of pardons, concerning which he says:

"My attention has been repeatedly called to cases where boys not yet 20 years old were sentenced to the penitentiary for fifteen years, while scores of hardened and very dangerous criminals were sentenced for two or three years for the same offense, and were then turned loose upon society. At present all are turned out of prison without reference to their ability to maintain themselves.

Would Abolish Capital Punishment. The entire system should be changed.

"During the past two years seven men have been hanged in this state, and I have commuted the death penalty to imprisonment for life in two other cases. I respectfully submit for your consideration the question as to whether the death penalty does any substantial good, whether we are any better off than they are in those states where they long ago abolished it, whether it is not barbarous and degrading in its effects, and whether it would not be better to have a more rational system of managing our prisons and then abolish capital punishment entirely."

Wants Civil Service.

The governor suggests the enactment of civil-service laws to relieve the executive officials from the pressure to provide the numerous applicants with offices. These applicants, he says, have during the last two years been enough to try the patience of Job and take up too much of the officials' valuable time.

"Every executive officer or head of department should, subject to some general rules, have the power of discharging any employe when, in his judgement, it is best for the service, but when he does so the place should be filled by taking the first from a list of names selected on the ground of merit by an examining board. We must strike a mean between the retention of incompetents and the distribution of spoils."

About Chicago Justice.

Taking up the subject of the courts of Chicago, his excellency says conditions amount almost to an absolute denial of justice and are such that litigation is luxury in which poor people and busy men can not indulge. Litigants are worn out and the cause of action useless before the courts get done with it. This, he says, is not the fault of the judges, of whom there are in Cook county twenty-eight, six less than sit in all Great Britain, but the fault of a pernicious system. England, from which this country borrowed its system, of jurisprudence, at once disposed of most cases. This country clings to the faults of the old system—England long ago brushed them aside. Therefore this country in the administration of justice is three fourths of a century behind the times. Regarding the justice courts, he says:

"I must again call attention to the conditions surrounding the police and justice courts of Chicago. They are a disgrace, and we will not rise to the demands of the occasion if we do not devise some remedy for these evils. I also again call attention to the subject of permitting any officer connected with the administration of justice to keep fees."

The abolishment of the state board of equalization is not only advised but urged. The governor says the board has signally failed to do its duty, inasmuch as one corporation which put the state to heavy expenses last summer has been permitted to escape payment of taxes on $40,000,000, while a few Chicago corporations possessing property aggregating in value $200,000,000 are also freed from paying taxes. Many of the corporations do pay a tax, but not the great ones.

"When an officer elected as a member of the board of equalization, and sworn to do his duty, comes to the capitol and labors night and day, resorting to every means within his power to shield some particular corporation from assessment, and, by making combinations with other members, is enabled finally to save a corporation anywhere from $100,000 to $400,000 in taxes, the public must form its own conclusions as to the character, the color and the size of the argument which led to the betrayal of an official trust. Most of the business, the manufacturing and the other great interests of the state are now carried on in the name of corporations. These corporations should be treated with the same consideration that is shown private individuals."

Assessment of Newspapers.

A complaint is made because only the tangible property of newspapers is subject to taxation.

On this subject he says: "Many corporations which have not much tangible property, but do have a large business good will that would sell for cash in the market, and which make enormous profits, practically escape taxation. If their capital stock were assessed its market value would have to be considered and that would be partially determined by the dividends. For example, one of the oldest daily morning papers of Chicago has for very many years annually earned net profits amounting to upward of $250,000, which would be large dividends on between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000.

"During last summer the owners of this paper refused to accept a cash offer of $3,000,000 for that property, thus showing that they valued it at a still higher figure. Yet the company which owns this paper pays taxes on an assessment of only $18,000. The publishers of this great paper assume the right, almost, to dictate to the community upon every public question. They assume the right to denounce whomsoever they please. They are in a sense above and beyond the law, for a poor private individual has no practical remedy against an unjust attack upon its part, and yet they manage to throw the burden of supporting our government upon the shoulders of others."

The passage of an inheritance tax law is also urged.

The governor says the sleeping car rates should be lower and recommends the establishment of rates at once just to both carrier and public. Other railway fares have decreased, but the sleeping car necessity is as dear as ever.

Revenue System.

Whatever may be said of the theory of our revenue system in this state, it is in its practical workings a giant injustice. Under it the great concentrations of wealth contribute comparatively little, while the owners of small and moderate sized properties are forced to bear nearly all the burdens of the government. The personal property of the very rich is scarcely taxed at all. There are thousands of men in this state who have great fortunes invested in stocks, bonds and other forms of personal property, upon which they do not pay a dollar, yet they enjoy all of the educational facilities, all of the protection and other advantages of the government just as much as their neighbors do, and curiously enough these are very often the men who have most to say about patriotism and the duties of citizenship. The failure to assess personal property is due in part to the fact that there is no method of compelling every man to honestly state what he has.

Competition with Free Labor.

It is to be deprecated that convict labor should in any way, even in the slightest degree, be brought in competition with free labor. To reduce this competition to the minimum the present system has been adopted. Every consineation of humanity emphasizes that the convicts should not be allowed to remain in idleness, and if this consideration did not control it would be unjust to the tax payers to make no effort to secure some revenue for the work of the prisoners. If the legislature can suggest a plan better than the one now in force, and which will make less the competition with free labor, we will be most happy to co-operate in its enforcement.

The prison at Chester has never been self sustaining. The annual deficit has always been about $100,000. There are at present 694 convicts confined there, and the commissioners report that by the introduction of better business methods they have so far reduced the expense of the management that they will need only $30,000 a year to meet the deficit, instead of $100,000, as heretofore, and they believe that in the near future the prison can be made self sustaining.

The Pullman Strike.

Soon after offering this advice he takes up the events of last summer and finds abundant occasion to compliment the Illinois national guard for the work done during the big coal strike, and in the next breath glides to the big railway strike and scores the federal government for putting the affected dis-

Discovery of the Bodies Not Made Until This Forenoon—Child Heaps a Shovelful of Coals on Its Baby Sister's Head, and Death Soon Follows.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Two men and a boy were found asphyxiated in a room on Grand street this morning. One of them kicked over a gas stove in the night.

FARIBAUT, Minn., Jan. 11.—A frightful accident occurred near Nerstrand's village about twelve miles east of here. While Mrs. Ernest Schuette was out feeding the stock during her husband's absence she saw smoke coming from the house. Upon entering she found that a 3-year-old boy had taken a shovel full of coals from the stove and poured them on the head of the 6 months old baby, causing its death and setting fire to the building.

INDIANA LEGISLATURE.

Republican Majority for the First Time in Twenty-Two Years.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 11.—When the fifty-ninth session of the Indiana legislature was organized yesterday it was the first in twenty-two years in which the republicans could claim a majority in both branches. Gov. Matthews' message will be read this morning. The house adjourned at 2:25 o'clock after deciding that the joint committee for the election of a new state librarian should select a candidate in caucus at 1:30 o'clock to-day.

One of the popular features of this legislative session will be a series of investigations which will be set on foot. It is claimed many serious abuses will be shown up.

The election of Justus C. Adams of this city, the caucus nominee for speaker of the house, was little more than a formality. The vote was 80 to 18. Representative Bobilga of Allen received the democratic honorary vote.

The one great bill next in importance to the new reapportionment act will be one to modify the present fee and salary law. This will precipitate one of the hardest fights expected to come before the legislature, as it will affect the salaries of county officers in every county in the state. Minor enactments of considerable import this session will be on railroads and insurance. It is quietly given out that a law fixing a 2-cent a mile passenger rate will be one of the first enacted. A co-liability law that will give employees the right to sue for damages is also expected to go through. The tax law will be left substantially as it is, notwithstanding the demands of the corporations for modifications. There will be some changes for the better in the Australian ballot law, probably giving voters the right to mark ballots with a lead pencil instead of using the ink stamp now employed and which so easily blots and results in rendering void a large percentage of ballots.

NATIONAL DAIRY UNION.

Legislation Against Spurious Butter and Cheese to Be Requested.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The National Dairy union began its second annual meeting here yesterday. The declared objects of the union are to secure national and state legislation to prevent the manufacture and sale of food products made in imitation of pure butter and cheese, and also prevent the sale of adulterated dairy products, and also to assist in the effective and thorough enforcement of laws on these subjects, and such future laws as may be enacted having for their object the ends sought by the union. The Grout bill to make oleomargarine coming from another state subject to state laws is favored by the union. Many members of the union are in favor of legislation absolutely prohibiting the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine in imitation of butter. During the present meeting the union will try to obtain government recognition by the establishment of a bureau of agriculture to be devoted to dairy interests. The union will be in session until to-morrow afternoon.

Helen M. Gougar's Suit on Trial.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 11.—The suit to test the constitutionality of the election law forbidding women to vote, instituted by Mrs. Helen M. Gougar in behalf of the Indiana Woman Suffrage association, was called in the Superior court before Judge Everett yesterday. Mrs. Gougar spoke in her own behalf, dwelling on the right of women. Judge Everett's decision will soon be forthcoming.

Schmittberger Unbosoms Himself.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Capt. Max Schmittberger, whose confessions were one of the sensations of the Lexow committee sessions in this city last month, has been before the grand jury the last two days. He is making a full confession. The understanding is that the captain's statement implicates many captains and even higher officials, whose names he has hitherto not mentioned.

THE Salvo army is having a hard time of it in Madison. Frank S. Utter, one of the members who had done nothing to cause a fence, was assaulted by a young tough, who was afterwards arrested and fined.

LAW COULDN'T FIND BEER IN A BAKERY

LEXOW COMMITTEE" QUIZZED SEVERAL MILTON PEOPLE.

They Suspected Baker C. H. Fuller of Selling Liquors, but the Investigation Did Not Warrant the Issuing of a Warrant by Justice Bullis—Other County News.

New York is not the only place where they have Lexow committees. They had one at Milton Junction.

Justice J. P. Bullis of the Junction acted as chairman, vice Senator Lexow and District Attorney Jackson was the inquisitor in place of Recorder Goff.

No one suspected the Milton police force of being corrupt and the investigation did not result in the resignation of the superintendent but it did settle one point.

They couldn't arrest C. H. Fuller for selling liquor.

Mr. Fuller runs a bake shop in Milton and it became noised around that in case of fatal illness, liquor could be secured there. The matter was laid before District Attorney Jackson who at once visited the scene. His visit caused the Lexow investigation, Justice Bullis summoning the complainants and the witnesses against Mr. Fuller before him to tell what they knew about it. Fuller had hired an attorney from Edgerton and summoned a lot of witnesses, but the attorney was barred from the room and told to cool his heels on a baggage truck over by J. P. Gage's hotel. As for the witnesses they were let into the room one at a time and claim that they had a very lively time. District Attorney Jackson did the questioning but sufficient evidence to warrant the arrest of Fuller was not elicited so he was set free with clear skirts.

REVIVALS HELD AT MILTON.

Rev. Randolph, of Chicago, is in Charge—Liquor Case Looked Into.

MILTON, Jan. 11.—Union gospel and revival meetings began Friday evening at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, and will continue each day and evening. Rev. L. C. Randolph, of Chicago, will take charge of the meetings, and will be assisted by the local clergy. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend the services. A number of our citizens were before the "special grand jury" in Justice Bullis' office at Milton Junction on Wednesday, to answer questions propounded by District Attorney Jackson as to their knowledge of violation of the license law on the part of C. H. Fuller, of this village. After hearing the evidence Justice Bullis decided that it was not sufficient to secure a conviction and therefore would not issue a warrant. The Alvin Clarke family celebrated the ninety first birthday of the old gentleman yesterday at his home on the farm. Professor J. J. Blaisdell of Beloit, is expected to occupy the pulpit at the Congregational church tomorrow morning. H. Jackson and J. C. Goodrich are filling their ice houses with ten inch ice, which is clear as crystal. Mr. Goodrich will put up a large quantity on the shores of Storrs lake; and will furnish the village next summer at reasonable prices. Miss Bessie Clarke visited Edgerton relatives last week. Mrs. J. E. Waterman visited Whitewater relatives this week. D. A. Holmes has accepted a position with the Boston shoe firm of Elwell & Lincoln. "Dave" will make a butler on the road. The officers of the A. D. Hamilton Post were installed Wednesday evening by Past Commander E. F. Weigle, as follows: Commander, W. H. Wilber; S. V. C., M. Chasablain; J. V. C., J. A. Bullis; surgeon, J. Pellet; chaplain, S. S. O'Connor; quartermaster, W. P. Clarke; officer of the day, O. A. Fridell; officer of the guard, S. Kerns; trustee, A. S. Bullis. The same evening the installation of the officers of the W. R. Corps took place. Mrs. Farrie Stillman, of Edgerton, being the installing officer. Mrs. Emma Carey having served in the capacity of treasurer for a number of years positively declined to serve again. The officers of the corps are as follows: Pres., M. W. Green; S. V. P., Mrs. Rose Marquart; J. V. P., Mrs. Nellie Hadden; Treasurer, Mrs. Emma Carey; Chaplain, Mrs. Ludessa Stillman; Conductor, Mrs. Jessie Risdon.

FULTON, Jan. 10.—James Stewart's baby is very sick. Dr. McManus, of Edgerton, held a consultation Wednesday afternoon, assisted by Dr. Woods, of Janesville, and Dr. Lord, of Edgerton. School commenced Monday, with a small attendance, as many children as well as older people have la grippe. Alfred Clough has his ice house filled. Mrs. J. C. Drown gave a tea last Wednesday afternoon, to a part of her old Sabbath school class. Those who were present had a very enjoyable time. The skating fad has struck town. Last Friday a number of old men, (many called them old because they were bald headed) were on skates, teaching the boys to skate, they said. The case of scarlet fever at Mr. Boothroy's is better, and we hope the other children will not take the disease. Miss Mabel Lee has returned to the Janesville high school. Miss Lou Raymond will not teach this winter, as her health is poor.

A WEEK'S NEWS FROM FOOTVILLE

Ice Crop Is Being Harvested—Leat Market Opening Up—Personal Gossip.

FOOTVILLE, Jan. 11.—James Ferrel, wife and daughter arrived here on Wednesday where they intend visiting friends for a week or so. This is the old home of Mrs. Ferrel whose maiden name was Mae Owen. A number from this place attended "Judge Snyder's Court" at Center, which was given by the C. C. T. C. It was well rendered and might well be entitled "eighty laughs in eighty minutes." It will be given on next Monday night in Hanover hall by the same talent. Mrs. Peterson entertained a number of her friends at dinner Thursday in a very hospitable manner. A very pleasant surprise party was given by the young people of this place to Miss Grace Honeysett, one evening last week. It was largely attended and a complete surprise to the hostess. Pepper & Owen received quite a lot of tobacco on Monday from the neighboring farmers, five cents being the ruling price. Rev. Henry Goodacre deserves a good attendance on Sunday evening as he wishes to tell his hearers something thing new about baptism. Frank Owen began filling his large ice house on Thursday with a choice quality of ice. He will put up the supply for the village. Si Curry is collecting a car load of provisions for the Nebraska sufferers, and all who wish to contribute should report to him. Mrs. Tollingson is visiting friends in Chicago this week. R. P. Maltress and the members of the New York firm that he represents made quite a purchase of '92 tobacco of Pepper & Owen on Wednesday. George Pepper, our genial telegraph student and a stranger from Roscoe are filling the vacancy in the depot caused by the absence of F. M. Garlick who is now basking in the sunny south.

HONOR FOR HON FENNER KIMBALL

Was Allowed to Select His Seat Without Drawing Lots.

Hon. Fenner Kimball enjoys the distinction of being the oldest man in the assembly and to him was accorded the right to select his seat before the regular drawing by lot, an honor that is seldom allowed. Mr. Kimball is already one of the recognized leaders in the assembly.

Senator Weeks, who represents the east portion of Rock county has been given the chairmanship of an important committee beside being made president pro tem, which in case of Lieutenant Governor Baensch's absence would cause him to preside over the deliberations of that body.

So far this week has been almost entirely taken up with the work of organization. Next week the real work will begin.

I was afflicted with catarrh last autumn. During the month of October I could neither taste nor smell and could hear but little. Ely's Cream Balm cured it.—Marcus Geo. Shultz, Rahway, N. J.

I suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since a boy, and I never hoped for cure, but Ely's Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill. Cream Balm is agreeable.

KEEP WILSON BUSY DODGING TROUBLE

POSTOFFICE OFFICIALS PLAN HIS SUDDEN DEATH.

For Instance They Proposed To Close the Carriers' Windows and Let Him Do the Necessary Explaining When the Populace Trooped in Every Evening.

Postmaster Wilson opened the end of a long official looking envelope the other day and ran his eye over the contents; for the envelope did contain a circular letter from the assistant postmaster general.

"Hum!" said the postmaster reflectively "I guess that won't cause much trouble."

He could see himself, every time he looked at the circular, standing in front of the post office while the youth and beauty and solid substantiality of the town filed through the doors and lined up in front of the carriers' windows. He could see himself explaining why the windows didn't open and he could see himself hearing what would be said. That's why he thought it wouldn't be much trouble, for the order was one that if strictly enforced would put an end to the delivery of mail from the carriers' windows, as it provided that the mail carriers were not to be allowed to handle any mail other than that which is to be delivered on their routes. The order has been in existence for some time but it has always been considered a dead letter until now. The orders as received are as follows:

First—Carriers are strictly prohibited from reporting prior to the schedule time, either for morning arrival or for the beginning of any subsequent trip during the day.

Must Do a Few More Things.

Second—Carriers must not remain at their desks or in the working room of the office during any interval or "swing" between trips, or during the dinner interval; nor must they remain in the post office after reporting from the last trip of the day.

Third—Carriers must record the exact time consumed by them each day, specifying the beginning and closing of each trip and the time spent in routing mail and looking up and marking undelivered matter. Only the actual time employed is to be recorded, but all service rendered must be recorded.

Fourth—Carriers will continue to make their daily trip reports, making their entries at the beginning and ending of each trip. The practice of filling out the entire report at the close of the day, must be discontinued and any carrier found continuing such practice will be promptly removed.

Fifth—Under no circumstances must carriers or superintendents conceal the fact that overtime—even to the least extent—is being made. Any attempt to do this will result in the removal of the offender, regardless of his rank. It will be equally contrary to this order for any carrier whose route requires less than eight hours to expend the actual working time thereon or attempt to record unnecessary time in order to have his trip reports show eight or approximately eight hour's work per day.

Can Do No Clerical Work.

Sixth—Where collections are made prior to the morning report, the first entry to the left on the trip report must cover the time so expended and be accompanied by this note: "Including collection."

Seventh—The performance of clerical work by carriers is absolutely prohibited. Their work must be confined to the collection and delivery of mail; the routing of their mail for delivery; the marking up or "logging" of undelivered matter; and the facing up of mail by collections upon their return to the office. All other work, except the duty at the delivery windows on Sundays must be discontinued by carriers. All other work is clerical and must be performed by clerks alone.

Then Postmaster Wilson sat him down in his official chair, at his official desk, and on his official paper, wrote he an official letter in an official hand. He told the officials what trouble the order would make in this good town. A day or two afterward he received another official looking envelope containing another official order which said that the first order was not official so far as it related to the carriers' work at the window. Then he smiled an official smile and went home to supper.

And such is the job of running a post office.

Hope Crushed to Earth

Will rise again in the bosom of a dyspeptic wise enough to substitute for the pseudo-tonics, which have bamboozled him out of his belief in the possibility of cure, the real invigorant and stomachic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The bilious, the nervous, the dyspeptic, the rheumatic alike derive speedy benefit from this helpful botanic medicine. Persons suffering from indigestion will gain no positive permanent good from the fiery unmedicated stimulants of commerce, too often used recklessly. The Bitters is immeasurably, to be preferred to these as a tonic, since its pure basis is modified by the conjunction with it of vegetable ingredients of the highest remedial excellence. Malaria is prevented and remedied by it, and it infuses vigor into the weak and sickly. A wineglassful three times a day is the average dose.

SCOTS ARE TO HONOR BURNS.

Elaborate Programme For the Burns Anniversary on January 25.

Alex Galbraith, Rev. E. H. Pence and S. B. Smith, together with foreign talent will make speeches and every one of the Rock county Scots are anticipating a very enjoyable evening at the celebration of the anniversary of the birth of their favorite poet, Robert Burns. Smith's orchestra will play for the dance and speeches will be made by Stanley B. Smith and Rev. E. H. Pence. They are both brainy men and something good may be confidently expected of both of the gentlemen. There is nothing cheap about any of the talent, most of which is imported, Mr. Garbutt being the only exception outside the speakers and the orchestra. President Alex Galbraith is sure to have something of interest to everyone. The excellent quality of the program will call out a larger crowd than ever if such a thing can be possible. KIMBALL HAS A LAW ON PARTY CAUCUSES

PRIMARIES REGULATED BY THE ELECTION BOARD.

Different Parties Have Different Days and a Man Who Tries To Drop a Ticket Into the Ballot Box of the Enemy May Be Prosecuted.

Hon. Fenner Kimball may introduce a bill in the assembly amending the election law. His amendment will deal more particularly with primaries and will provide for the holding of primary elections for nominating officers, under the supervision of the regular election officers, the polls to remain open a sufficient time to give all an opportunity to cast their ballots. Penalties are imposed upon a person who votes illegally at these primaries, and upon those who attempt to vote at the primary of an opposing party. No two political parties shall hold their primaries on the same day. Similar laws are now pending in a number of state legislatures, and the probabilities are that the Wisconsin legislature will adopt it. Assemblyman Kimball has given the matter considerable thought, and has collected considerable data to aid him in framing his proposed amendment.

That's what you must expect of such a collar; it's the linen of it. The stand-up collars won't stand up, and the turn-down collars will wilt down. The easy, cheap, and pleasant way out of this is to wear "CELLULOID" COLLARS AND CUFFS. Points on Bicycling For Women—What the Chin Denotes.

It seems that Mrs. Kendal has been saying cruel things about women who bicycle, but as among the riders of the wily steed in England may be reckoned Lady Colebrooke, Lady Norreys, Lady Rosslyn, the Duchess of Manchester and Mme. von Andre her protest will be apt to go for very little there, where it would naturally have more weight than with us. There is very little use in kicking against the pricks when they do not prick the majority as well as the individual. The woman's bicycle has come to stay in spite of Mrs. Kendal and Willie.

One of the prettiest tokens of friendship and affection is called a gemel ring, which is made of double hoops joined together like the links of a chain. A side of each hoop is flat and is surmounted with an emblem or motto. The ring is so constructed as to form one as well as two, and it was the custom of French lovers to plight their troth by putting their fingers through these hoops, the girl afterward wearing them in the form of a double ring. A ring somewhat similar to this may be seen occasionally, composed of four or five wire rings which lie close together, forming one solid ring on the finger, but which, when taken off, may be shaken apart to form a chain, each wire ring being a separate link.

It is said that a retreating chin denotes silliness, a flat one viciousness, a small one cowardice, a pointed one craftiness, a soft, round one fondness for eating and drinking, but if a dimple be there then it shows kindness and benevolence, but the taste for the pleasures of the table is intensified by that dimple. These qualities are of course to be reckoned with regard to the characteristics denoted by the other features, which may either increase, modify or counteract them.

The illustration given today shows a walking gown of brown cloth. The skirt has three godets behind and two panels of white cloth on the left side, separated by a box plait of brown cloth. Two buttons close the panels at the top, and they are crossed at the foot by three bands of black passementerie. The corsage is of brown velvet and has a brown cloth vest, which opens over a plastron of white cloth crossed by black passementerie. The cloth sleeves have a large velvet puff and crenelated epaulets of white cloth embroidered with gold. The standing collar is edged with fur.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A BIRD IN THE BUSH.

Judic Chollet Says It Is Worth Two on the Head.

English journals tell us that the council of the Selborne society have again thought it desirable to protest against the slaughter of birds for the purpose of obtaining feathers for employment as trimmings in millinery. There is no gainsaying the statements that the members of the council have made. They assert that the cruelty which is caused by the use of feathers is appalling. The destruction of bird life is much greater than is generally imagined. It is not merely that the bird bearing the feathers is shot down and killed, a practice which some persons might argue is not more cruel than shooting the bird for the food of man, but it should be remembered that as the plumage is always brightest and most beautiful during the breeding season it is then that the birds are chiefly killed, and consequently their young are left to perish miserably by slow starvation in their nests. This is particularly the case with some of the larger species, such as the algreys, that yield the beautiful white feathers that are so much worn in bonnets and are only to be obtained by shooting the parents when nesting. This is usually done as they return to feed their young, these being left to perish most miserably. Not only is the practice of wearing feathers to be condemned on account of the barbarity that it encourages, but it has another evil, that of causing such a reduction in the number of the most beautiful species of birds that many are in danger of being altogether exterminated.

As there are now many ingenious methods of dyeing and arranging the feathers of ordinary poultry to resemble the plumage of rare birds, there would seem to be no excuse whatever for the continued slaughter of wild species for decorative purposes.

A sketch is given of a new evening hood made of white liberty satin. It is lined with white surah, and the frills about the face and around the neck as well as the large bow in front are of white gauze embroidered with white silk dots. The hood is gathered at the back of the head under a bow of white satin.

"I OWE MY LIFE TO YOU."

A Wilton, N. J., Girl's Experience With a Noted Massachusetts Woman.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Life is never more precious than in the heyday of youth, when every dream is a promise, and every thought an inspiration.

It is natural that Miss Gertrude Sickler, a young lady who lives at Wilton, N.J., is grateful for the great boon of life.

She suffered terribly with suppressed and painful menstruations. The doctors could only prevent her from having fits each month by losing her with morphine.

At last, when she was completely prostrated, her father got her a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which at once gave her relief.

That did what the doctors could not do. It cured her. She has no trouble now, and no dread of the coming month. "I owe my life to you," she writes to Mrs. Pinkham. "Oh, if other suffering women could try your valuable medicine they would bless you as I do."

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

1757—General Alexander Hamilton, American soldier and statesman, secretary of the treasury under Washington, born in New York; killed by Aaron Burr in a duel July 12, 1804.

1807—Ezra Cornell, promoter of education, etc., born at Westchester Landing, N. Y.; died 1874.

1825—Bayard Taylor, American author and traveler, born at Kennett Square, Pa.; died in Berlin 1878.

1804—Isabella Shawe Thackeray, widow of the distinguished author, died at Leigh, England; born 1819.

ISSUES: NOT MEN.

Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, and one of the brightest leaders of the democratic party, published recently a three column editorial devoted almost exclusively to President Cleveland. He says among other sarcastic things:

"Mr. Cleveland may not be a small man or a bad man, but he is eminently an unsuccessful man." Continuing he says "Mr. Cleveland was going to administer his office upon lines laid in heaven. His idea seemed to be to re-create the public service in the image of its immediate maker. Upon his return to office after being on the shelf for years, he at once began to display those qualities that deny him leadership and to plunge his party into disaster. On paper very self confident, in action nearly abortive."

It is doubtless a source of satisfaction to Mr. Watterson and other leaders of the democratic party to be able to charge defeat to their idolized president, and to know at the same time that this sort of criticism will not worry the chief executive to any alarming extent.

To the large class of unprejudiced minds, whose votes contributed to the overwhelming defeat in November, the responsibility was not placed upon the president, or his cabinet, but it was placed where it properly belonged upon the democratic party itself.

The great tide of public sentiment, before which no political party could stand, simply broke loose, carrying everything before it, and saying in unmistakable terms:

"We will no longer tolerate democracy!"

Incompetency, is the one word that expresses the voice of the great majority, and the sooner Mr. Watterson and other democratic leaders recognize this fact and take up the study of national government, the better it will be for the defeated party. The vote on the currency bill recently in the house indicates that an element in the party is learning wisdom by experience. The bill was defeated by the eighty-two republican votes, aided by thirty-nine democratic. When President Cleveland and his advisers, recognize the fact that the only way to keep the government out of debt is to provide sufficient revenue by wise and equitable legislation, the party will have learned one of the fundamental principles of good government.

The rank and file of the party has absorbed much valuable information during the past eighteen months, it being about the only thing in sight to absorb. The diet while not very stimulating, suggested some useful lessons, and among them, and perhaps the most important, the idea of protection to American labor and American industries was not overlooked. As a result, unlike Mr. Watterson, they charged responsibility to the democratic party, and not to President Cleveland. The verdict in thirty states was against democracy; the chief executive was saved because he was not available, but the hand writing on the wall is plain y apparent, and in 1896 the wreck of democracy will be complete.

GOVERNOR UPHAM'S MESSAGE.

The message of Governor Upham will rank among the state papers as one of the most business like, common sense documents on record. Not presuming to embody all there is of wisdom, his suggestions are one of the several lines of state government indicate a thoughtful and comprehensive idea of public welfare and a wide knowledge of the conditions prevailing in the state. Advocating an economy free from narrowness, and favoring improvements that will result in public good, he introduces into the affairs of the state the same business prudence that has crowned with success his private enterprises. That he is in close touch with labor as well as capital will be apparent to every man who reads his well timed sentences on the labor question. The people of Wisconsin are regardless of party will find in Governor Upham an executive who will bring credit to the state and administer the affairs of government intelligently and honestly.

MILK PURIFIER.

Impurities Removed While the Fluid is Still Warm.

The invention of a Scotch dairyman is for the purpose of purifying and aerating milk. This is an apparatus adapted for purifying milk by the process of eliminating from it all taints and odors immediately after it is drawn from the cow. It has been found that milk so treated will keep sweet for a greater length of time, and will even withstand the influence of thunderstorms. To the cheese-maker this is a matter of special importance, since first-class cheese cannot be made from tainted milk, while in the case of milk for town supply the preservation of its freshness should prove of incalculable benefit to seller and purchaser alike.

The appliance is extremely simple, consisting of tinned wire cloth so arranged on a stand that the milk flowing from the vessel above passes over it, and gets broken into the finest stream, thus allowing every part of it to be treated by the atmosphere. The aerator is equally useful to the dairy farmer for the purpose of purifying milk preparatory to cream raising or separating, and it is desirable to note that all milk should be aerated before refrigerated. At present the refrigerator is generally used to cool impure milk, from which results the fact that refrigerator milk goes sour very quickly when brought to a temperature exceeding 60 degrees. This appliance is undoubtedly a new and valuable adjunct to the dairy.

FARMERS TALKING TAX ON CHURCHES

THAT AND ROAD MAKING AROUSE DEBATE.

Change From the County to the Mixed System of Caring for the Poor Discussed, But No Action Taken—Sheep Raising Is Declared Profitable.

Shall church property be taxed? Shall we change from the county to the mixed system of caring for the poor?

These questions made the second day of the Milton Junction farmers convention a lively one. One note dropped into the "subject box" read:

As the pope of Rome is an alien and not entitled to hold property in the United States exempt from taxation and as archbishops are his special agents and in their own name hold millions of dollars worth of property exempt from tax, would it not be well to examine the records and see to whom the Roman Catholic church in the United States really belongs.

If it really belongs to different congregations and institutions why hold it in the title of a bishop. If it is the personal property of the bishop why not tax it like the property of other clergy? If the bishop is running a banking house for the pope, why not conform to statute provisions and at least give some assurance that he has not a duplicate charter from his grace.

The taxation of church property was discussed by Rev. E. M. Dunn. Mr. Dunn opposed the idea of taxation. It was making men pay for doing good. Churches were not a source of revenue, were not business enterprises; and there was even less justice in taxing them than in taxing the public schools. All church property bringing in revenue should be taxed—for example there should be a tax on a portion of the Court Street church property in Janesville, and a tax on the immense business property of Trinity church, New York. L. T. Rogers of Milton Junction, wanted all church property taxed, and so did S. C. Carr, who declared that no good came from such monstrous, costly and ornate churches as were seen in the old country and were being built here. The proposition to tax churches was put to vote but it was decided to lay it on the table.

Town or County Poor System.

A. C. Powers stood before the convention with a declaration that the county system of caring for the poor should be changed to the mixed system. The cities made the paupers by their saloons, he said, while the towns paid the taxes to support them. Each town cared for its own poor until 1856 when the county undertook the entire burden, the cities contributing to the poor fund all license money. This was done for twenty years then the cities diverted the license money and the county boards took steps toward a return to the old system. As a compromise Assemblyman Winslow had a law passed setting aside $50 of each license to the poor fund and everything had been peaceful until first Edgerton and then all the cities refused to make further payments. The question has been placed in the hands of a committee of six from the county board, Mr. Powers said and a report would be made next week. Many towns had paid taxes into the poor fund year after year and had never received any benefit. Under the mixed system, which here recommended, the township poor would be taken care of in each town, only the cases that do not belong to any town being cared for by the county. Towns could provide relief at home or could send cases to the asylum at $1.50 or $2 a week. Twenty-six counties under the county system, twenty-six under the township system and sixteen under the mixed system was the condition in Wisconsin at last reports.

P. Marquart, of Milton, opposed the idea of a change. It was a step backward. The county had a splendid equipment, and could take care of the poor cheaper per capita than could separate towns. The humane side of the question should be considered, and also the fact that the saving to any one town would be very slight. The superintendent must still be retained, and the buildings kept up, all this coming out of the general county tax.

W. A. Mayhew, of Clinton, spoke emphatically against a change, and Supervisor Killam said the county board committee would report in favor of the county system if the license money could be secured. A motion calling upon the legislature to set apart all license money for the support of the poor, was carried.

Good Roads a Vital Question.

Esra Goodrich started a discussion on good roads, by saying that Milton was the garden spot of Wisconsin, not because of its schools but because of its highways. Five hundred dollars spent fifteen years ago on the road between Milton and Milton Junction made a road that had never gotten out of repair. Milton avenue, however, would sooner or later become the model highway in the county. This was due to the fact that Uncle Daniel Bennett, father of Judge Bennett, got property owners to set off an extra rod along most of the road. Mr. Goodrich's ideal road had a sixteen foot strip of gravel in the center, sixteen foot dirt roadways on either side and nine feet left on the edges for gutters, sidewalks and shade trees. Tiles should be used to carry off the water in low ground.

A. C. Powers of Beloit, pinned his faith to crushed stone—three cubic yards to the rod. This made a layer eight inches deep and nine feet wide. A piece seventy rods long that was built in Beloit township a year ago required much grading and still the cost was only $1.70 a rod. The road is now as smooth as a plank floor.

Prof. J. Coleman of Evansville, sounded the praises of the stone crusher. A machine costing $175 and requiring four horse power would crush 140 tons of stone a day. In Whitewater rubble from a quarry is being placed on the main roads out of town as far as the money will go, and a system of splendid roads is being provided. Good roads, postal delivery and the millennium were the only things Rock county farmers wanted.

Professor J. Craig of Madison, discussed sheep raising; declared it profitable if the sheep were raised for mutton and favored Essex Dwarf Fodder rape as a fattening ration, one acre giving ten weeks pasturage for forty sheep.

S. C. Carr demanded an agricultural college separate from the state university, where $20,000 a year was paid to agricultural instructors but nine students graduated in ten years. Professor Craig admitted the long course to be impractical, but said the short course was doing splendid work.

CRAZY MAN JAILED WHILE ON A TEAR

MRS. A. J. BOUCHARD HAD AN EXCITING EXPERIENCE.

Jacob Wing, a Deranged Blacksmith, Was Peeping in at the Windows, and She Feared That He Would Force an Entrance—James and Alvirra Fight.

Mrs. A. J. Bouchard found a man peeping in the window the other night and thereby gave Turnkey Ray North his first bit of official police experience. He was sitting in the jail office when the telephone rang.

"Hello!" he said.

"Is this the jail?" was asked in an excited tone of voice.

"Yes."

"Well, send a policeman up here right off! There's a man trying to get in the house!"

"Hurry up!" came another call as the turnkey was about to hunt up an officer. "He's going to kick the door in!"

Turnkey North didn't wait for anything more; he just grabbed his revolver and started. The telephone message was from Mrs. A. J. Bouchard, and Officer North's only information was that the house was "two blocks this side of the brewery" and that the man "had a scarf about his neck." He found the house but the man was gone. Officer North followed his tracks in the snow until the roadway was reached and there he lost sight of them. He rummaged about the neighborhood until he was satisfied that the man had left and then returned to the jail. Shortly afterward two men brought the "peeper" to the jail and he was locked up.

Man Was Deranged.

"He gave his name as Jacob Wing and said that his home was at Fort Atkinson. He had several prescriptions in his pocket signed by Dr. Palmer, and said he came here purposely to see the doctor. Officer North thought from the crooked trail that 'ing' left when he walked through the snow that he had been drinking, and was surprised when he found that this was not the case. Wing was evidently out of his head for he raged in a cell all night and cried for water. Dr. Whiting was called to attend him and later on his brother came down from Fort Atkinson and got him.

He was evidently deranged and there is no telling what might have happened if he had not been taken in. He said he was a blacksmith by trade and was a muscular man.

When Mrs. Bouchard who resides at No. 3 Gore street, first discovered Wing he was peeping in a window. Later she feared that he would attempt to force an entrance and so telephoned to the jail.

ALVIRA AND JAMES FELL OUT.

The Cox Family Had a Fight At Home Last Night.

"I want a policeman to come up and arrest my husband for beating me; he's drunk" remarked Mrs. Alvira Lord-Cox as Turnkey North opened the front door at the jail last night in response to her knock. The turnkey looked at her and then made up his mind that Alvira wasn't a lady who would stand around and mildly allow herself to be "licked."

"You've been drinking yourself, haven't you?" he asked.

Alvira was insulted.

"You look as if you could handle any husband who imposed upon you," he said; but Alvira insisted that James was too much for her, and she wanted him arrested. The turnkey had never seen her before, but he suspected that there were two sides to any story that Alvira might be concerned in, and so took her story with a grain of salt and recommended the police to her. Later on Officer John Kruse brought Cox down, and he was put into a cell. The couple, who are well known to the police, had a falling out, and the fight followed. They have been having rather a hard time of late, several landlords having decided that their room was worth more than their company.

Cox was brought into the municipal court this morning to answer to the charge of habitual drunkenness which had been preferred by Chief of Police Acheson, at the request of Alvira, who told the officers that her husband kicked her in the stomach last night.

Today she felt different and pleaded as hard for the freedom of her husband as she had for his arrest last night.

Contractor McKenzie, of the new high school building, testified that Cox was a good bricklayer, and was earning $3 a day. The police testified that most of his money went for liquor, and that Alvira wasn't much better. Judge Phelps was about to send Cox to the poor house, but decided that a man who could earn three dollars a day ought to be able to support his family, and so continued the case for a week on Cox's good behavior.

"I cannot send Mrs. Cox there until someone makes a complaint," remarked the judge, addressing the chief of police. The chief replied that the complaint would be forthcoming, in case she failed to behave herself, and with promises to sober up and care for themselves, both left the court room.

WILL FRANKLIN MAY NOT LIVE

Inflammation of the Bowels Likely to Prove Fatal in His Case.

Will Franklin, of the firm of Morrissey & Franklin, is dangerously ill with inflammation of the stomach and bowels. The chances are that he cannot recover. The report that he had been fatally injured by a kick from a horse is untrue. Mr. Franklin was at work last Friday and a horse which he was shoeing suddenly drew his hoof away, but did not kick. Saturday Mr. Franklin drove to Beloit and on reaching that city he was taken sick. He succeeded in returning to his home on Hyatt street in this city and has been confined to his bed since. Last evening there was a consultation of physicians over his case, and it was said that he might not live through the night. He was no better at noon today.

As the constellations rise in the sky, the Indian refers to his gourd and finds out the hour. By turning the gourd around he can tell the order in which the constellations may be expected to appear. The hill people of Assam reckon time and distance by the number of quids of betelnuts chewed. A Montagnis Indian of Canada will set up a long stick in the snow, when traveling ahead of friends who are to follow. He marks with his foot the line of shadow cast, and by the change in the angle of the shadow the oncoming party can tell, on arriving at the spot, how far ahead the leader is.

The president was always accompanied in his drives by a large force of gendarmes, and at the various railroad stations the public was carefully excluded from the platform.

Ugly Cut Over His Right Temple Severed the Temporal Artery—Dr. Mills a Happy Father—Bower City Social Notes—Soldier Boys Meet.

HERMAN GAUGER lay unconscious in the rear of Lempe's saloon, corner of Milwaukee and Academy street last night. There was a two inch gash over his right temple and a pool of blood was slowly spreading and freezing. As soon as his condition was realized Dr. Joe Whiting was called. It was found that the temporal artery had been severed and in order to tie the artery the gash had to be extended. Fourteen stitches were required to draw the flesh together. Chief Acheson investigated the case and found that Gauger had fallen off the backs steps of the saloon. The wounded man was taken to his home corner of Cherry street and Western avenue.

LONG ON SNAKES.

The Judge Tells of an Egg-Stealing Reptile of Vigorous Growth.

"Speaking of snakes, did you ever see one swallow a live fish?" The speaker was one of a party of gentlemen, according to Texas Sittings. As none of them had ever seen the performance referred to, he proceeded to describe it in graphic style:

When he got through Judge S. said: "When I lived in Texas we used to depend mainly on snakes for our eggs."

"What," said an elderly gentleman, who was a little hard of hearing, "did you eat snakes' eggs?"

"Not by a jugful," said the judge, "but we found hens' eggs in the snakes. You see, snakes are very fond of eggs, and down there they make a business of hunting for eggs. They would go from one nest to another, swallowing egg after egg, until they could hold no more, and when they were too full to move they were easily captured. As they swallowed the egg whole, it would be a good while before the contents would be hurt, and if the snake was killed before the shell was digested, the egg would be all right. I once took 193 hens' eggs from one snake. As I knew the snake had stolen the eggs, I had no compunction about stealing from him."

"Did you eat them all?" asked the elderly gentleman.

"No, no," was the reply. "I only ate two or three dozen and traded the rest off for tobacco."

"Were the eggs in a pile when you cut the snake open?" asked the elderly gentleman, as if in search of truth.

"No," replied the judge, "they were lying in a row lengthwise in the snake's stomach."

"But," suggested the elderly gentleman, "one hundred and ninety-three eggs lying in a row lengthwise would make a pretty long line."

"Well," replied the judge, "this was rather a long snake."

DON'T KNOW HOW TO PLAN.

New York's Tenements the Result of Ignorance of Scientific Planning.

The greatest evil which ever befell New York city was the division of the blocks into lots of 25 by 100 feet, says Scribner. So true is this that no other disaster can for a moment be compared with it. Fires, pestilence and financial trouble are as nothing in comparison, for from this division has arisen the New York system of tenement-houses, the worst curse which ever afflicted any great community. The fact that so much of the land is held in such parcels is our misfortune, but the obstacle is not insuperable, as shown by our office buildings. The difficulty has arisen and persistently flourishes owing entirely to our lack of knowledge of the art of scientific planning. For who would waste money in erecting unnecessary walls, halls, etc., if he knew how to obtain the same amount of rentable space much better lighted without them? By the present system the ground is encumbered, the light obstructed, and the structure rendered unhealthy and unfit to live in, and all this is accomplished at a vastly increased expense over what the same rentable space, well lighted might be obtained for. Great sums of money are yearly squandered upon making the structure unfit to live in. Then other great sums are contributed by charitable people to relieve the distress which these horrible structures engender. Hospitals are kept full, children die, misery, disease and crime flourisheth, because people are huddled together without light and air, and all this happens simply because the principles of economical planning are not understood.

A Boycotted Clergyman.

Extraordinary statements regarding the boycotting of Rev. Roderick Ross, Free church, Coll. Scotland, were made before the deer forests commissioners at Arinagour. Donald McInnes, mason, delegate, said at the first rent collection after Colonel Stewart became landlord he sat receiving the rents in the parish church with a six-chamber revolver before him on the table. Mr. Ross, their respected Free church minister, had lifted up his voice against the tyranny, and as a result had been boycotted. The last move against him was the barricading of his doors by the erection of six rows of barbed wire fencing, and the filling up of the well from which the manse got its supply of water with all sorts of filth and stones.

French Railways.

In 1893, 389 miles of new railroad were opened for traffic in France, making the total of the country 22,262 miles, of which 19,743 miles belong to the six great companies, 1,609 to the state, 698 to branch railroad companies, 199 are not chartered, and 138 miles are made in shops, yards, etc. Besides, there were at the end of the year 2,215 miles of local railroads, 188 miles of which were opened in 1893. There were also 1,333 miles of street railroad.

THE JUDGE'S CARRIAGE.

The Marshal Gets It Paid for as Transportation of Prisoners.

Attorney General Olney tells the following story about Justice Gray of the United States supreme court. Judge Gray prefers riding to walking and a carriage or cab to a street car. When he first held court in Boston, he asked the United States marshal to provide him with a carriage to transport him from his hotel to the court and back to the hotel after the day's session. The marshal was commendably prompt and cheerful in complying with the wishes of the distinguished jurist. From Boston Judge Gray went to Providence to hold court. He asked the United States marshal there to provide him with a carriage to carry him back and forth. The marshal said he could not do so without paying for the vehicle out of his own pocket.

"But the marshal at Boston furnished me with a carriage, and had no trouble with his accounts," said Judge Gray.

"I don't see how he did it," protested the Providence marshal. "I know if I tried it that item in my accounts would be disallowed."

"Very well," said Judge Gray. "Of course, I don't want you to pay for my carriage," and he paid it himself, and the incident closed so far as he was concerned.

Not so with the Providence marshal. He wrote to the Boston marshal and asked him how he had managed to have his charge for a carriage for Judge Gray's use between the hotel and the courthouse allowed by the department here.

"Easy enough," wrote the Boston man in reply. "It's plain," he continued, "that you've not been marshal long. I provided Judge Gray with the carriage, and my accounts went through the department without any trouble. You see, I put the item of the judge's carriage under the head of 'care and transportation of prisoners.'"

TALLEST MAN IN CONGRESS.

Albert Seaton Berry of Kentucky Bears That Distinction.

The Honorable Albert Seaton Berry of Kentucky is the tallest man in congress. He is 6 feet 7 inches in height. For a time it was supposed that General Newton Martin Curtis was the tallest statesman in Washington. Bynum and Tom Reed were in the ways and means committee-room swapping lies. Berry entered, looking for a document. When he had left Bynum remarked that he was a very tall man, undoubtedly the tallest man in congress. Reed dissented. He said:

"Bynum, that is just like you Democrats. You're always behind. You're never right. You keep me busy all the time pointing out your errors. It causes me more labor and trouble to keep you people supplied with correct information than all my other duties combined. Now, don't display your ignorance again. General Curtis of New York is the tallest man in congress. If you will remember this you will not be caught in such a grievous mistake again as alleging that a Kentuckian can reach above him."

Bynum did not believe the ex-speaker. Reed offered to bet him $5 that Curtis was the taller man. Bynum accepted the bet and pages were sent in quest of Curtis and Berry. They appeared in the committee-room in a few moments. Curtis stands very erect and Berry is in the habit of stooping his shoulders and neck. The nature of the bet was explained to him. Curtis smiled. Berry began to straighten up, first his shoulders and then his neck, until Reed's eyes began to expand. They were placed back to back and Berry proved to be an inch and a half taller than the big New Yorker. The ex-speaker was very much surprised and he drawled out, with his deep, Yankee twang:

"Berry, for God's sake, how much of yourself do you carry in your pockets?"

The editor read it and replied: "I'll tell you something else about this joke."

"Well, sir?"

"Not only has it never been in print, but it never will be."—Town Topics.

The ever-increasing popularity of CLIMAX PLUG can only be attributed to its high quality, delicious flavor, and satisfying substance—three features which all judges of Chewing Tobacco know to be essential.

Many men ask for a certain brand of tobacco through force of habit, without stopping to think whether there is anything better to be had for the same price. If you want the best, ask for CLIMAX PLUG.

SAID BY GOV. ALTGELD

Under what he is pleased to term military rule, usurping the rights of the state authorities. The whole history of the strike is given.

Arbitration.

I strongly urge legislation on this subject, and I would suggest that the law would provide for a new board in each case, allowing each party to select an arbitrator and the two thus selected to name a third, or, if they disagree, then let the county judge name the third. If a permanent board was created the more powerful interests would soon seek to get their friends appointed on it, and no matter what it did it would soon lose the confidence of the workers and of the public, and with this its usefulness would be gone.

About Injunctions.

Under the head of "Government by Injunctions" the governor assails the federal judge for revolutionizing the form of government and issuing a ukase, "called an injunction, forbidding whatever he pleases and what the law does not forbid, and thus legislates for himself without limitation and makes things penal which the law does not make penal.

Organized Labor.

On the subject of anarchy the governor says the brigandage of the trusts is responsible for the unhappy social conditions of the nation. The big concerns organize the laborer and the consumer, but deny the right of organization to their victims. The constitution has of late years become a barrier to the protection of the public, and the federal judiciary a subservient tool to trusts. Combinations of capital have succeeded and the fate of the laborer is apparently sealed if this state of affairs continues. The cry of anarchy is misleading. Our government is in no danger from the anarchy of a mob. Anarchists can accomplish nothing in this country, for the people are too loyal—too patriotic.

Save the Great.

A St. Petersburg correspondent telegraphs that an Englishman who was passing lately through a small village in Russia, entered a peasant's cottage to ask for a cup of tea. Hanging on the wall, framed in a tea-tray, the edges of which were turned over the canvas, he noticed a portrait in oil of Peter the Great. Having bought it for half-a-crown, he showed it in St. Petersburg to the curators of the Hermitage gallery who, after consulting their catalogues, identified it pretty surely with the picture at Versailles; but considered that if they were by the same hand, or copied one from the other, the copy was at Versailles, and the original was this. The portrait, if not the finest of any existing is inferior to none, and will probably be purchased eventually by the imperial family.
